Jan Blunt is a native of Cincinnati, Ohio, where she began her dancing and teaching career, and was a founding member of Cincinnati's African American Drum and Dance Ensemble, as well as the Espere Liturgical Dance Ensemble. She earned her undergraduate degree at Hampton University, where she majored in Mass Communications and Broadcasting, and danced with the school's dance company, the Terpsichoreans. She relocated to Southern California in 1986 and became a teacher in the Los Angeles Unified School District. She is a fifth grade teacher and Arts Coordinator at Loyola Village Fine and Performing Arts Magnet School. She has been a student of Dunham technique for 25 years, and is a certified Dunham Technique Instructor. In Los Angeles, Jan has danced with Djimbe West African Drummer and Dancers, Embrasamba Afro-Brazilian Dance Company, and Grupo Afro Bahia Brazilian Dance Ensemble, Sona Sane' African Dance Ensemble and was artistic director of Abalaye African Dance Ensemble. She has taught Dunham Technique classes and workshops at Lula Washington Dance Theater, Debbie Allen Dance Academy, Cortinez High School for the Arts, Ciara Dance, Contemporary Dance Theater (Cincinnati), and teaches Jazz Dance for the Los Angeles School District Conservatory of Fine Arts for students gifted in the arts. She earned her Master's degree in Educational Administration at California State University, Northridge. Close proximity to Hollywood has afforded many opportunities, and she has television, movie and music video credits, but she is far more focused on the education of young people, in academics as well as the arts.
